Welcome to the wiki for the design of the OHCHR module on gender integration!

This wiki will be used for collaboration on the content design and flow of the module.

To contribute, please click on the comments tab in the top right menu bar. This tab appears on each page, so please comment from page to which your feedback relates.

How can you contribute? Below are some proposed entry points. These will be updated periodically.

1. Suggest a creative, compelling and relevant title for the module based on the content envisaged, that is the a basic introduction to gender integration in OHCHR (concepts, accountability, roles and responsibilities, basic guidance on how to integrate gender in OHCHR's internal processes and major areas of work) (see general information)
2. Share feedback to inform the look and feel of the module (see graphic identity), including design elements you like from related projects that convey the concept of gender equality
3. Suggest colleagues to be interviewed (manager, program officer, and general service staff member) in order to share their good practices in integrating gender in their specific areas of work (see section 2)
4. Review the needs analysis table to identify additional key tasks and knowledge needed regarding the gender integration responsibilities of OHCHR staff.
5. Provide feedback on the overall objectives and objectives for each section.
6. Suggest content (resources/guidance/good practice examples) (particularly from the OHCHR context) which can help the module deliver on its specific objectives.
7. Suggest ideas of an exercise to allow a general service staff member to integrate a gender perspective in a context relevant to their own work (see section 3)
8. Provide other inputs as you see relevant.
